2. Read the passage carefully and answer the questions given below : 5

In his insatiable greed for material things and physical comforts, man has ruthlessly exploited natural sources. He has killed animals for meat, skin and entertainment. He has cut trees for paper, fuel and furniture. He has uprooted plants for food and medicines. He has dug the ground for precious stones and minerals. The disasters like Tsunamis, Katrina and Rita have rendered millions of people homeless around the globe. We human beings must realize the significance of the signals nature is giving us in forms of floods, storms and hurricanes. We should stop cutting trees and let the forest cover increase. We should try to save underground water. If we are able to save our environment and wildlife, we will ensure a peaceful and long existence on the earth.

Questions :

- (1) Why has man exploited natural sources ?
